

Food Safety Manager Certification

Become a Certified Food Safety Manager for only $99.95

- Train online when it's convenient for you
- Test locally when you're ready
- Accredited examination
- Examination pass warranty guarantees you only have to pay once

Training

The TAP Series online Food Safety Manager Certification course is the nation's most widely accepted online training. Offered with full motion video, narrative in English or Spanish, sound effects, interactive learning games and rich graphics. Used by major food industry companies and over 250 colleges and universities nationwide.

Examination

The National Registry's Certified Food Safety Manager Certification examination is an ANSI accredited examination and is recognized by virtually every health department in the country. This examination is available at over 1,000 computer testing centers nationwide.

Warranty

If you follow the TAP Series study guidelines and do not pass the certification exam, you will be allowed to retrain and be given the examination again at no further cost. Of the schools and companies that follow the Pass Warranty study guidelines, and report their examination results, there is a 97.3% first time examination pass rate. This makes the combination of the TAP Series Training and National Registry examination the most effective food safety manager certification program available.

All this for only $99.95.

Click here now to purchase the Food Safety Manager Certification course.